Introduction

The University is committed to providing and maintaining a safe and healthy working environment for its staff. In addition, the University is also committed to providing a safe and healthy environment for students, visitors, contractors and everyone attending the University.

Definitions

Officer – in regards to the University, this includes members of the University Council, the Vice-Chancellor, and the Senior Management Team (SMT) members for their areas of responsibility.

Worker – a person who carries out work in any capacity for the University, including University staff; contractors, subcontractors and their employees; and others as stipulated in the Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 \(New Zealand Legislation website\). Volunteers are excluded from this definition in some cases, see section 19\(3\) \(New Zealand Legislation website\) of the Act for further guidance.

Workplace – any physical location in which work-related activities are performed under the control of the University.

Policy Statement

The University as the Person Conducting a Business or Undertaking (PCBU) will

- Demonstrate excellent health and safety practice with legal compliance as a minimum.
- Implement policy and procedural requirements within a system of continuous review and improvement.
- Implement effective consultation and communication systems for health and safety.
- Consult and actively promote participation with staff, students and contractors to ensure they have the commitment, training, skills, knowledge and resources to maintain a healthy and safe environment.
- Maintain strong work participation processes and structures, including a University-level health and safety committee that meets regularly.
- Ensure that all staff, students, visitors and contractors are made aware of emergency procedures and how to respond to all emergencies and critical incidents.
- Work together with other PCBUs in a spirit of trust and co-operation towards optimum health and safety results, and be committed to the Canterbury Rebuild Safety Charter \(Canterbury Rebuild Safety Charter website\)
- Have in place review mechanisms to continuously improve health and safety performance and learn from any incidents.
- Provide access to treatment and rehabilitation programmes for employees that support a safe, early and satisfactory return to work from injury or illness, work and non-work, where possible.

Health and Safety Roles and Responsibilities

Roles and responsibilities for health and safety matters have been significantly changed with the introduction of the Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 \(New Zealand Legislation website\).

Every member of the University community has a responsibility to maintain excellent health and safety practice; this responsibility increases incrementally through the levels of the line management structure.

Officers' Responsibilities

The University Council, the Vice-Chancellor, and members of the Senior Management Team (SMT) within their areas of responsibility each have the following responsibilities as officers under the Act:

- Acquire and keep up-to-date knowledge of health and safety matters for the University.
- Understand the nature of the University's operations and of the associated hazards and risks.

- Ensure the University has appropriate resources and processes to eliminate so far as is reasonably practicable, or minimise so far as is reasonably practicable, risks to health and safety.
- Ensure that the University has appropriate processes for receiving and considering information regarding incidents, hazards, and risks and for responding in a timely way to that information.
- Ensure that the University has, and implements, processes for complying with any duty or obligation.
- Verify the provision and use of the above resources and processes through reviews and audits.

Workers' Responsibilities

University staff and contractors (including sub-contractors) have the following responsibilities:

- Take reasonable care for his or her own health and safety.
- Take reasonable care that his or her acts or omissions do not adversely affect the health and safety of other persons.
- Comply as far as he or she is reasonably able with reasonable instructions given by the University in relation to health and safety.
- Cooperate with the University's policies and procedures relating to health and safety.

The effective delivery of this policy requires everyone to accept a personal responsibility for health and safety. The University will provide professional and competent support and advice to all members of its community.

Duties of other persons at workplace

Other people at the workplace, including adjunct appointees, student interns, volunteers or any other person must:

- Take reasonable care for his or her own health and safety
- Take reasonable care that his or her acts or omissions do not adversely affect the health and safety of other persons
- Comply, as far as he or she is reasonably able, with any reasonable instruction that is given by the University in relation to Health and Safety.
