Visiting Erskine Fellowships

The Erskine Bequest

The extremely generous bequest of John Angus Erskine in 1960, who was a former graduate of the University of Canterbury and contemporary of Ernest Rutherford, now enables over 70 distinguished international academics who are already advanced in the learning of any subject taught in the Faculties of Engineering and Science, the Departments of Linguistics and Philosophy in the Faculty of Arts, the Faculty of Health and the UC Business School to visit the University of Canterbury each year. The fellowships are usually for a duration of one to three months.

Further information about John Angus Erskine can be found at <http://www.canterbury.ac.nz/engage/erskine/the-bequest/>

Purpose

The purpose of Visiting Erskine Fellowships is to give lectures to students.

Other Visiting Fellowships

Nominations for the below fellowships are usually open from May to July for fellowships in the following year. Fellowships to Canterbury are for normally durations of one to three months and the purpose of all fellowships is to give lectures to students.

Visiting Canterbury Fellowships

Canterbury Fellowships to visit the University of Canterbury each year are available to all Faculties which are not eligible for Erskine Fellowships (i.e. the Faculty of Arts, the Faculty of Education, and the Faculty of Law.)

Oxford/Canterbury Academic Exchange Programme

The Oxford/Canterbury Exchange Programme is open to all Faculties and is funded by the University of Canterbury (with assistance for relevant schools/departments from the bequest of its distinguished graduate John Angus Erskine).

Cambridge/Canterbury Academic Exchange Programme

The Cambridge/Canterbury Exchange Programme is open to all Faculties and is funded by the University of Canterbury (with assistance for relevant schools/departments from the bequest of its distinguished graduate John Angus Erskine).

Māori and Indigenous Studies Fellowship

One Visiting Māori & Indigenous Studies Fellowship per year may be awarded to persons from overseas or New Zealand who are advanced in the learning of any subject taught at the University of Canterbury. It is open to all Faculties and is funded by the University of Canterbury (with assistance for relevant schools/departments from the bequest of its distinguished graduate John Angus Erskine).

Airfares

The University will pay for up to two return airfares to Christchurch from overseas, by the most economical route, for the Visiting Erskine/Canterbury/Oxford/Cambridge Fellow and a spouse/partner or other member of the visitor's immediate family living at the same address who is staying for 28 nights or longer, excluding travelling time to/from Christchurch, during the period of the Fellowship. Airfares for any additional travellers are not covered.

The family member need not travel with the visitor in either direction. All reservations must be made through the University's travel agent, Orbit Travel. It is possible for the itinerary to be amended at the visitor's expense (i.e., upgrade to a different fare type or a route variation).

Maintenance allowance

In addition to the above travel allowance, a Visiting Fellow to the University of Canterbury receives a maintenance allowance of, currently, NZ$125 per eligible night in term-time, usually paid by direct credit to a New Zealand bank account number within 10 days of arrival.

Accommodation

Fully furnished accommodation will be arranged and paid by the Erskine Programme, for the duration of the Fellowship. All accommodation has been checked by the Erskine Programme Office to ensure it is of a suitable standard for visitors and a convenient commute to the university.

Accommodation will only be provided for the visitor and the immediate family members travelling with them. The Erskine Programme Office is not responsible for finding or obligated to provide accommodation for any other family or friends who may choose to visit the Visiting Fellow during their time in Christchurch.

Visas

By law, any person that gives you immigration advice about New Zealand must be licensed by the Immigration Advisers Authority. The Erskine Programme Office and academic departments/colleagues are therefore not legally permitted to provide visa advice in New Zealand. While we can assist with some general queries, we recommend that any specific questions you have about which visa is most appropriate for your situation are addressed to Immigration New Zealand directly. Their contact details and hours are available at <https://www.immigration.govt.nz/contact>.

Some visitors from visa-waiver countries can travel to New Zealand for up to 90 days in a single visit without a visa if they apply for and receive an NZeTA (New Zealand Electronic Travel Authority) before they travel.

If you are not a citizen of a visa-waiver country, if your stay is for 90 days or more, or if you wish for your children to attend school in New Zealand without paying international student fees, you may require a visa. If you do, you can explore your visa options on the Immigration New Zealand website. These options may include:

- Specific Purpose Work Visa
- Academic Visitor Visa
- Bringing family
 - Partner of a Worker Visitor Visa
 - Dependent Child Student Visa

Tax considerations

As a Visiting Fellow, consideration should be given to the potential New Zealand tax obligations. A Visiting Fellow is likely to be a non-New Zealand resident and is likely to be receiving income while in New Zealand (i.e., salary from their home institution).

Potentially, this could result in the Fellow being subject to New Zealand income tax on their worldwide income earned whole in New Zealand if they are considered to be a New Zealand tax resident.

New Zealand Tax Resident Rules

The New Zealand tax residency rules differ from the ordinary New Zealand residency rules for immigration purposes. Essentially, if you are in New Zealand for a period over 183 days in any 12-month period, you will be considered a New Zealand tax resident from the first day that you are present in New Zealand. If you expect to be in New Zealand for 183 days or more, you will be considered a tax resident and will be required to file an income tax return in New Zealand.

Double Tax Agreements ('DTA')

Your resident country may have a DTA with New Zealand. This is important as, depending on your country's DTA, you may be entitled to certain tax exemptions.

If you have any queries about your New Zealand tax obligations, please speak to the Erskine Programme Coordinator.

Christchurch

Christchurch is the largest city in the scenic South Island of New Zealand and has a current population of approx. 400,000 people.

Additional information about Christchurch and its many attractions can be found at:

Campus Facilities

The University of Canterbury is situated across 76 hectares in the leafy suburb of Ilam. The campus has a Recreation Centre, a Medical Centre, staff club, numerous coffee shops and cafes and an Early Childhood Learning Centre, amongst other features.

Further information about the Campus can be found at www.canterbury.ac.nz

Schooling

The Visiting Fellow is responsible for organising enrolment into a New Zealand school if they wish to do so. As accommodation in certain locations is not guaranteed and school zone policies apply to visiting fellows, a request to find accommodation in a certain school zone may not be met by the Erskine Programme.

Please note that a student visa may be required for your children if you wish to enrol them into a New Zealand School as domestic students and avoid the payment of international student fees. The academic parent (i.e., the parent in receipt of the fellowship) may also require a work visa in order for a child to obtain a student visa.

Contact

To enquire about the possibility of being nominated for a Visiting Fellowship, please contact the Head of the School/Department in which you plan to give lectures. The relevant Head of School/Department can be found at <https://www.canterbury.ac.nz/departments/academic-schools-and-departments/>

Please enclose a current CV in English including a list of publications and any supporting documents.
