Restructuring, Insolvency & Turnaround Association of New Zealand (RITANZ)

RITANZ is the professional body for accountants, lawyers and licensed insolvency practitioners, and for those working in the field of business restructuring and turnaround, and the corporate and personal insolvency industry in New Zealand. We have a growing membership base of over 500 members across New Zealand.

We are dedicated to promoting the rewarding career pathway of our profession and welcome discussion from students who are interested in learning more.

Rilo Studios

RILO is an AI startup developing a platform designed to help individuals and organisations turn ideas into functional digital products. Once launched (This Month), the platform can be utilised by large organisations seeking to automate and improve internal systems, as well as by individuals and teams looking to build startups from end to end without upfront development costs.

Alongside the development of the platform, RILLO provides students with opportunities to gain hands-on experience working on real products and real problems. As artificial intelligence continues to reshape industries and roles, RILLO focuses on helping participants develop practical, future-ready skills by applying AI tools in real-world environments rather than purely theoretical or simulated work.

Students working with RILLO may contribute to platform development, internal product builds, or early-stage client and startup projects. This exposure includes areas such as product development, automation, marketing, research, and operational problem-solving; skills increasingly valued across both technical and non-technical roles.

RILLO offers paid and performance-based opportunities, including internships, ambassador roles, and project-based commissions. We are particularly interested in students from business, marketing, computer science, engineering, data, and entrepreneurship, though students from all disciplines with curiosity, initiative, and adaptability are encouraged to apply. Based in New Zealand, RILLO provides an in-person, collaborative environment focused on preparing participants for the evolving job market.

The Treasury

Te Tai Ōhanga - The Treasury is the New Zealand Government's lead economic and financial advisor. The work we do helps ensure that New Zealand's economy supports higher living standards for all New Zealanders.

Our Graduate programme runs for 18 months and is based at our Wellington office. During this time, you'll be taught how to think like an Analyst and will be exposed to a range of issues facing New Zealand.

If you've got the ability to analyse an issue and present solutions, communicate confidently and want to grow your career at the centre of government, we'd love to hear from you!

We are keen to hear from students with degrees in economics, law, finance, business, accounting and public policy particularly, though the programme is open to any degree type.

World Travellers

Whether you're eager to explore solo, travel with friends, or join a group adventure, we've got something for you! While we currently don't offer graduate or internship roles, we're always happy to connect with students who are curious about what a career in travel could look like. If you love people, experiences, and seeing the world, come chat with us about how you could turn that passion into a profession.

From action-packed Contiki and Topdeck tours to the immersive experiences of G Adventures and Intrepid Travel, the world is waiting. Plus, if you're dreaming of a unique journey, we can help tailor-make a trip just for you. We also specialize in multi-gen travel and family vacations, so no matter your travel style, we've got you covered. Swing by our World Travellers stand and let's start planning your next great adventure!
