Mechatronics Engineering

Keen to be a part of designing and creating 'smart' products, processes and systems? Mechatronics Engineering integrates electronics and intelligence, and it's becoming increasingly more important for many aspects of our lives. It can be found anywhere from your smart phone and smart TV to smart medical care and devices.

It sits between mechanical, electrical, and computer engineering, and combines sensors, software, and motors to create innovative and amazing new devices.

UC | Engineering Pūkaha
UNIVERSITY OF CANTERBURY

Bachelor of Engineering with Honours canterbury.ac.nz/engineering

ENGC1393