Academic Advice: Principles and Guidelines

Assessed Work in Maori Policy

A student may present work for assessment in te reo Maori, except in courses where the use of a specified language (including English) is necessary.

Assessment Policy: Principles and Guidelines

Assessment at the University of Canterbury is guided by the principles of validity and reliability, fairness and manageability, relevance and transparency. Staff at the University of Canterbury must be cognisant of these principles when they plan, implement and review assessment tasks and assessment processes.

Credit Transfer for Students from New Zealand Institutions: Guiding Principles

It is both desirable and expected that tertiary providers will facilitate student movement between institutions and will recognise appropriate credit accordingly. The University of Canterbury supports the principles outlined in ‘Supporting Learning Pathways – Credit Recognition and Transfer Policy’ (NZQA, December 2002). It also endorses the principles for transfer of credit published by the ‘New Zealand Vice-Chancellors’ Committee: Committee on University Academic Programmes ‘Functions and Procedures (2007–2008)’. In particular, it is committed to facilitating access and creating new study opportunities without undermining the quality of University of Canterbury qualifications.

International students and/or students attending overseas institutions are subject to ad eundem statum procedures, outlined elsewhere in the University of Canterbury Calendar. It is also the case that this policy focuses on credit transfer at undergraduate level. At postgraduate level, credit for prior learning is normally considered on a case-by-case basis alongside issues like availability of a supervisor and other resources.

Missing of Assessment Due to Sport/Cultural Activities

This policy provides guidance for Departments/Schools in situations where students miss tests or other assessment deadlines due to involvement in representative sport or cultural groups.

University Field Activities Policy

The University Field Activities Policy has been written to provide a framework within which Departments/Schools must develop and operate their own written field activities policies and procedures.

Field activities vary in their nature and duration and are difficult to categorise; however, this policy is intended to provide compliance with the requirements of the Health and Safety in Employment Act 1992 and its amendments.
