1.5 Writing Task

Topic: My Host Family
Text Type: Description

TASK:

Imagine you are an exchange student in Australia. You are writing to your Japanese friend about your host family and sending them a photo.

Describe one member of your Australian host family. You must write about some of the following points:
- where they were born
- what they look like
- what they are wearing
- what they do (e.g. job/student)
- what pets they have
- what they want to do in the future
- what present you have given them or received from them
- any other ideas relevant to the topic

The information that you write about needs to
- Be a least 200 kana in length.
- Include hiragana, katakana and kanji as appropriate.
- Communicate basic personal information, ideas, and opinions.

Note:
- The quality of your language is more important than the quantity.
- Over your final three to five texts, there is to be evidence of communicating beyond the immediate context, for example, about the past, present, and/or future.
