

Associate Professor Mary Tate - Victoria University of Wellington, NZ

Semester 2 2021

Associate Professor Mary Tate is being hosted by Professor Annette Mills in the Department of Accounting & Information Systems. Mary's area of interest is new and innovative approaches to the design, management and delivery of digital channels and services using new technologies.

Mary is visiting from Victoria University of Wellington where she teaches IT management, digital transformation, information systems theory and research methods, and user experience design.

She heard about the Visiting Erskine Fellowship through international Erskine fellows who have visited Victoria University on "side trips" in the past. When the Erskine Fellowship programme opened to visitors from within New Zealand Mary asked to be considered and was delighted to be invited.

Mary is loving the UC campus, Hagley Park and the gardens, Riverside Market, and is hoping to get up to Arthur's pass.

Whilst at UC Mary is teaching information systems research and emerging IS for business and interacting with great students and staff. "This is a tremendous time to be in the technology area as there are so many exciting things happening and some things that are a bit scary".
