

Performance Course in Music at UC

Students should have some experience of performance on their chosen instrument or voice. Students who intend to major in performance should be working with repertory of the level which is set at the grade 8 level or above. Admission to performance requires an audition, and in making an assessment, the auditioning panel takes into account:

- the projection of musical style, artistry, interpretation, musicianship and personality in the performance of music;
- the technical proficiency of the applicant in relation to the demands of 100-level performance;
- the prospect of the applicant being able to develop skills further and to realise musical potential as is expected at graduate level by the end of three years' study in the performance Bachelor of Music degree.

Because of the complex interaction of these factors, it is not possible to predetermine fixed standards, nor to take evidence of successful performance elsewhere into account.
