Introduction

The University is committed to providing and maintaining a safe and healthy working environment for its staff. In addition, the University is also committed to providing a safe and healthy environment for students, visitors, contractors and everyone attending the University.

Definitions

Officer – has the same meaning as in s 18 Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 \(New Zealand Legislation website\). In regards to the University, this includes members of the University Council, the Vice-Chancellor, and the Senior Management Team (SMT) members for their areas of responsibility.

Worker – has the same meaning as set out in s 19 Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 \(New Zealand Legislation website\). In regards to the University, a person who carries out work in any capacity for the University includes

- University staff

For the purposes of this policy extends to cover all persons working at, for, or on behalf of, the University (whether paid or unpaid), including but not limited to:

- Contractors;
- Sub-contractors and their employees; and

- Volunteer workers (as defined by s 19 Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 \(New Zealand Legislation website\)).

Wellbeing – the state of complete physical, emotional, mental and social health; not merely the absence of disease, illness or injury.

Workplace – has the same meaning as s 20 of the Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 \(New Zealand Legislation website\).

Policy Statement

The University as the Person Conducting a Business or Undertaking (PCBU) will

- Demonstrate excellent health, safety and wellbeing practice with legal compliance as a minimum.
- Implement policy and procedural requirements within a system of continuous review and improvement.
- Implement effective consultation and communication systems for health and safety.
- Consult and actively promote participation with workers and students to ensure they have the commitment, training, skills, knowledge and resources to maintain a healthy and safe environment.
- Maintain strong work participation processes and structures, including a University-level health, safety and wellbeing committee that meets regularly.
- Ensure that workers and students are made aware of emergency procedures and how to respond to all emergencies and critical incidents.
- Work together with other PCBUs in a spirit of trust and co-operation towards optimum health, safety and wellbeing results, and be committed to the Canterbury Rebuild Safety Charter \(Canterbury Rebuild Safety Charter website\)
- Have in place review mechanisms to continuously improve health, safety and wellbeing performance and learn from any incidents.

In acknowledgement of risks to wellbeing as a prominent hazard for the University community, will implement a programme of initiatives to assist staff and students to address that hazard

Provide access to treatment and rehabilitation programmes for employees that support a safe, early and satisfactory return to work from injury or illness, work and non-work, where possible.

Health, Safety and Wellbeing Roles and Responsibilities

Roles and responsibilities for health, safety and wellbeing matters have been significantly changed with the introduction of the Health and Safety at Work Act 2015 \(New Zealand Legislation website\).

Every member of the University community has a responsibility to maintain excellent health, safety and wellbeing practice; this responsibility increases incrementally through the levels of the line management structure.

Officers' Responsibilities

The University Council, the Vice-Chancellor, and members of the Senior Management Team (SMT) within their areas of responsibility each have the following responsibilities as officers under the Act:

- Acquire and keep up-to-date knowledge of health, safety and wellbeing matters for the University.
- Understand the nature of the University's operations and of the associated hazards and risks.
- Ensure the University has appropriate resources and processes to eliminate so far as is reasonably practicable, or minimise so far as is reasonably practicable, risks to health, safety and wellbeing.
- Ensure that the University has appropriate processes for receiving and considering information regarding incidents, hazards, and risks and for responding in a timely way to that information.
- Ensure that the University has, and implements, processes for complying with any duty or obligation.
- Verify the provision and use of the above resources and processes through reviews and audits.

Workers' Responsibilities

Workers have the following responsibilities:

- Take reasonable care for his or her own health, safety and wellbeing.
- Take reasonable care that his or her acts or omissions do not adversely affect the health, safety and wellbeing of other persons.
- Comply as far as he or she is reasonably able with reasonable instructions given by the University in relation to health, safety and wellbeing.
- Cooperate with the University's policies and procedures relating to health and safety.

The effective delivery of this policy requires everyone to accept a personal responsibility for health, safety and wellbeing. The University will provide professional and competent support and advice to all members of its community.

Duties of other persons at workplace

Other people at the workplace, including adjunct appointees, students, student interns, volunteers or any other person must:

- Take reasonable care for his or her own health, safety and wellbeing.
- Take reasonable care that his or her acts or omissions do not adversely affect the health safety and wellbeing of other persons.
- Comply, as far as he or she is reasonably able, with any reasonable instruction that is given by the University in relation to health, safety and wellbeing.
